- 1. What basic types of morphemes are there? Provide your own examples!
- 2. Are these allomorphs or different morphemes? What determines the choice of allomorph? Eng. in-, im-, iŋ-, il- (as in intolerant, imperfect, inconclusive, illogical)

- 3. By means of which word-formation processes have the following lexemes been formed? If two or more word-formation processes are involved, specify their order.
 - a. to enthuse
 - b. language lab
 - c. to hoover
 - d. judgmental
 - e. laptop
 - f. modernize
 - g. USA
 - h. likewise
 - i. lab
 - j. infusion
- 4. Discuss the function of the affixes -ship,-less, -ness, -ful, -ish, -ify, -ity. Identify what word class they attach to and what they 'turn' the word into (consult the file from the book "Comprehensive Grammar of the English Language" on Blackboard in the folder "Kursmaterial").

- 5. Specify whether the following compounds are endocentric, copulative, exocentric or appositional:
 - a) sky-blue
 - b) pencil case
 - c) table salt
 - d) egghead
 - e) airport
 - f) greybeard
 - g) bluebottle
 - h) writer-director
 - i) lipstick
 - j) sleepwalk
 - k) toothbrush